Napoleon & Josephine

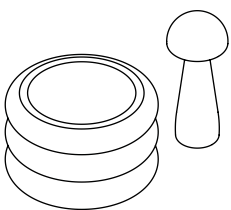

Napoleon & Josephine c/o Sarah King

Two dependent sculptural forms come together to create a pleasingly weighty mortar and pestle.

Used in kitchens for thousands of years, there remains a no more satisfyingly primal way to mix dry ingredients than a mortar and pestle. King's take on the kitchen staple is distinctly sculptural, while the natural heaviness of Elba makes for an extra solid base and pleasingly weighty pestle. Together, they make an extra-effective pairing.
