KANSO

TRAY TABLE

PLEASE WAIT

The KANSO tray table has an understated, even austere, metal frame that bears the trays, made from stained black ash wood. Easy to fit together, it's a sturdy yet elegant expression of sculptural form and no-nonsense function. It works as a stand-alone assemblage or a practical side table, and the trays can be turned to shape the ensemble into fresh patterns. The trays can be used on their own, to serve your friends, frame a dish or show a flower.

LAURA BILDE was awarded upcoming designer of the year at the Danish Design Awards in 2016. Uncomplicated and minimalist, the effortlessness of her finished pieces belies the work that has gone into them. Aesthetics and functionality combine in the architectural candour and simplicity of her designs.
